The increasing globalization of the world economy has opened up opportunities for individuals and businesses of all sizes and industries to offer their goods and services in the international marketplace. The complexity of operating in foreign markets more than ever requires expert advice to ensure proper planning and compliance. U.S. entities doing business in other countries, and foreign companies doing business in the U.S., must consider a wide range of issues, from domestic and international regulations to tax status to corporate structure. From our headquarters in San Diego, Seltzer Caplan McMahon Vitek has the demonstrated expertise and experience to address these critical issues.

Our clients include high net worth individuals, multinational corporations, banks and financial institutions, family-owned entities, small businesses, and entrepreneurs. We have a significant focus on Asia, Europe, Latin America, and the Middle East. We have helped major Asian companies with U.S. joint ventures, worked with Latin American companies developing infrastructure projects, counseled U.S. businesses developing distribution networks in Europe, assisted international businesses accessing financing in the Middle East, and advised U.S. and foreign families on cross-border asset structures.

Our San Diego-based international team can also call on the resources of the Law Firm Alliance, which offers our clients access to the high quality and cost-effective legal services of more than 50 firms and 2,500 attorneys throughout North America, Europe and Asia, all with a deep commitment to client service.
