Professional Liability Defense

Seltzer Caplan McMahon Vitek has a well-earned reputation of effectively representing professionals in liability defense matters. SCMV not only has considerable experience in this specialized and evolving area of practice, but also a recognized track record for success. We have represented a significant number of:

- Attorneys and law firms in defense of professional liability claims
- Superior Court judges in disciplinary proceedings before the California Commission on Judicial Performance

We have successfully defended many malpractice actions, including matters involving:

- Alleged conflicts of interest
- Real estate transactions
- Securities transactions and investor claims
- SEC investigations and enforcement proceedings
- Tax and estate planning
- Prosecution and defense of claims and litigation
- Advice and transactions regarding LLCs, corporations and other business entities
- Billing and fees

To successfully represent professional clients, our attorneys not only stay ahead of shifts in business and the law but also are skilled in effectively using the latest in trial presentation technology and in handling massive electronically stored information (ESI) databases.
